I don't know much of both, but I'm able to put it together. I'm a bit lost however at the moment since this is my first time. I'm trying to connect to an SQL Server database. I have this data.model.js file: `export const fetchData = () => { const client = new Client(); const request = client.query('select * from table order by id desc;'); return request.execute().then(query => query.map(row => { return { 'id': row.id, 'name': row.name } })); };` This fetchData() function is the one I'm calling from my view. This view.ts file: `export class ProductPage { products: Array; constructor(private http: HttpClient) {} ngOnInit() { this.fetchData().then(data => { 82157476af`
